WATER WORKS

The culture of water.

Water is a limited natural resource and at MDE we are aware of the importance of proper use, conservation and exploitation.

That is why we participate with a special sense of responsibility and effort in the construction of water supply and drainage networks for the population, along with infrastructure for irrigation and auxiliary works for drainage and adaptation of water courses.

We have also participated in the construction of treatment plants for drinking water, sewage plants and pumping stations for drinking and residual water, as well as reservoirs for water storage.
